

I oppose the expansion of LPFM stations in such a way that they will take priority over FM translators.

K-Love, for example, serves our area and others around it, with commercial free programming that is uplifting for the whole family. I very much appreciate not having to worry about what children may hear on these radio stations. I think the programming is unique among radio stations, refreshing, and SO important to our community.

I'd hate to think that the FCC would make it more difficult for people in rural areas to hear the good news of K-Love.
